NSW B2B Process Specification, Network Billing

Dispensation for Residential Dynamic Import and Export Trial Tariffs

This dispensation allows a time-limited trial of arrangements that are not currently set out in the NSW Business to Business (B2B) Process Specification — Network Billing (B2B Procedures).

The B2B Procedures remain unchanged. This dispensation applies only in the specific circumstances described below.

This dispensation is limited to Ausgrid's Residential Dynamic Import and Export Trial Tariffs and applies only to electricity retailers who choose to participate in the trial. It relates solely to billing transactions associated with the relevant tariffs. This dispensation is in effect for the period from 1 July 2026 to 30 June 2029, unless otherwise varied or withdrawn.

For the purposes of the trial, the use of a new Time of Day code and corresponding rate description is permitted under this dispensation, as set out below.

The following new Time of Day (TOD) code and associated description, additional to Table 5.7.3 Time of Day Codes (page 46) of the B2B Procedures, is permitted under this dispensation.

Time of Day Code	Description
DYNAMIC	ENERGY ON DYNAMIC

The following Rate field description is permitted for use in place of that set out in Table 5.1.3 NUOS Charge Record Type (page 32) of the B2B Procedures, for the purposes of this dispensation.

Field	Description	Attributes	Comments
Rate	The rate applied to the charge, exclusive of GST. Where the NUOS charge is calculated using dynamic interval prices, the Rate applied will be calculated as the Charge Amount (GST Exclusive) divided by the Quantity.	NUMERIC (s9.5)	Mandatory
